

QUEEN VICTORIA.

Herald Special Report from London.

Her Majesty's Personal Interest in the American News from Livingstone.

Royal Honor and Crown Compliments to the Commander of the Herald Search Corps.

Queenly Congratulations on the Successful Result of the Enterprise.

DINED AT BALMORAL.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

The following special despatch to the HERALD has been received from our correspondent in the British metropolis:—

LONDON, Sept. 18, 1872.

Mr. Henry M. Stanley, commander of the HERALD Search Expedition for Livingstone in Africa, had two interviews recently with Her Majesty Queen Victoria.

ENTERTAINED AT BALMORAL.

Mr. Stanley dined at Balmoral by royal invitation.

CONGRATULATIONS FROM THE CROWN.

Queen Victoria expressed to him, in the most warm and friendly terms, her congratulations on the successful result of the American enterprise in furnishing news of the English traveller in Africa, his condition of health, his discoveries and his hopes for the future, previous to his return to Great Britain.

ENGLAND.

Intemperate Conduct of Temperance Men Toward Tom Hughes—Agriculturists Arrogant—The Rate of Discount Advanced.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

LONDON, Sept. 18, 1872.

Thomas Hughes, M. P., attempted to address his constituents in Frome, last night. A large number of temperance men, who are bitterly opposed to Mr. Hughes, were among the audience and constantly interrupted the speaker. The disorder became so great that the meeting was finally dissolved and the police cleared the hall.

AGRICULTURISTS COMBINING AGAINST AGRARIAN AGGRESSION.

Acts of petty incendiarism in the agricultural districts have become so frequent that the farmers are organizing vigilance committees, the local authorities proving unable to check the growing evil.

THE RATE OF DISCOUNT ADVANCED.

The rate of discount of the Bank of England has advanced one half per cent, and is now four per cent.

SCOTLAND.

Fatal Accident in the Frith of Clyde.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

GLASGOW, Sept. 18, 1872.

A boat capsized yesterday on the Frith of Clyde, off the Isle of Arran, and seven persons were drowned.

FRANCE.

Military Execution of the Murderers of the War Hostages—Citizen Danger from a Prussian Court-Martial—Presidential Courtesy to America—Convict Deportation of Convicted Communists.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

PARIS, Sept. 18, 1872.

L'Œuvre, Deschamps and Denerville, the three communists condemned to death for murdering hostages and in whose cases commutation of sentence was refused, were shot this morning at Satory.

EDMOND ABOUT'S DANGER FROM PRUSSIAN COURT-MARTIAL.

It is reported that M. Edmond About is to be tried by a German court martial at Strasbourg on September 25.

PRESIDENT THIERS' COURTESY TO AMERICANS.

Captain Wells, of the United States steamship Shenandoah, dined with President Thiers at Havre yesterday.

QUARANTINE AGAINST ENTEREST.

The French government has issued stringent regulations to prevent the introduction and spread of the rinderpest.

CONVICTED COMMUNISTS DEPORTED.

Eight hundred and eighty Communists, condemned to deportation, were embarked at Brest today for New Caledonia.

CARLIST CAUSING FOR ANOTHER INSURRECTIONARY CRISIS—Election of the Ministerial Candidates to the Legislative Presidencies.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

MADRID, Sept. 18, 1872.

The Imparcial (newspaper) says Generala Catho-neau and Tindal will soon meet at Bayonne, France, to perfect arrangements for a fresh Carlist rising in Spain.

Don Ramon Cabrera, the well known Carlist, has been invited to join in the movement, but refuses to do so.

GENERAL TINDAL SERVED UNDER MAXIMILIAN IN MEXICO.

REVOLUTIONIST ASSAULTS AGAINST RAILWAY PROPERTY AND LIFE.

Several trains on the railway between Saragossa and Barcelona have lately been fired upon by Carlists. So bold have these desperadoes become that the drivers, in fear of their lives, have refused to work, and the running of the trains between the two cities has been suspended.

CABINET CANDIDATES IN THE CORTES PRESIDENTIAL CHAIR.

Señor Figuerola, the Ministerial candidate, has been elected President of the Senate.

The Vice Presidents and Secretaries who have been chosen are also members of the Ministerial party.

BELGIUM.

Presence of Distinguished Personages in the Capital.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 18, 1872.

Count Sclopis, who lately presided in the Alabama Claims Arbitration Court at Geneva, and the Père Hyacinthe, who has been lately married at Marlborough, London, are in this city.

GERMANY.

Church Question Correspondence of Eminent Controversialists—Potentate, Premier and Prelate in Argument—"Excommunication."

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

BERLIN, Sept. 18, 1872.

The correspondence between the Emperor William, Minister Bismarck, and the Bishop of Bamberg on the subject of excommunication is published.

The Bishop takes decided ground against the interference of secular authority in matters of religion.

The tone of the communications on both sides is sharp and uncompromising.

SWEDEN.

King Charles Dangerously Ill.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 18, 1872.

His Majesty King Charles of Sweden is lying dangerously ill at Malmö.

He was born on the 3d of May, in the year 1826. The King is an artist and poet of considerable ability, and very popular with his subjects.

CENTRAL ASIA.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

LONDON, Sept. 18, 1872.

A despatch from Tehran reports that the cholera is raging with great violence in Bokhara. It is estimated that one thousand persons are dying daily from the scourge.

CUBA.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

HAVANA, Sept. 18, 1872.

The measures of the Intendente have broken up the system of frauds in the Havana Custom House and smuggling through the Cardenas Custom House has ceased.

CUSTOM HOUSE REFORM.

The Intendente issued a circular on Saturday, threatening to send all the employees of any Custom House whose frauds are discovered prisoners to Spain.

It is expected the new order of things will increase the revenue from five millions to seven millions annually.

The Intendente has abolished the Commission of Merchants which have hitherto supervised the inspection of merchandise. He says the Junta appointed to supervise the sixty millions of loan ought to do that duty and relieve the merchants of the burden.

EXECUTION OF HOSPITAL SURGEONS.

Two surgeons, one an American, the other a German, were lately found serving in the insurgent hospital in the Tajo Mountains. They were captured by a detachment of the Matanzas Lattalion and immediately executed.

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE.

G. W. Griffin, Consul to Copenhagen, has arrived in Washington on his sixth month's leave of absence.

General Sherman was at his office in Washington yesterday and received a multitude of callers, including large numbers of army officers and others, who called to pay their respects and congratulations upon his safe return.

Mr. William H. Vanderbilt returned with his family from Europe on the steamship Scotia, that arrived on Tuesday. The underground railway system of London was carefully inspected by Mr. Vanderbilt during his stay in that city, and he noted many things useful both in the construction and working of the road about to be built in this city.

M. Paul R. Du Chailu, writing to a friend in this city from Christiania, Norway, August 29, 1872, says that everybody there was speaking of Stanley and admiring his energy, perseverance, sagacity and courage, and of the enterprise of the HERALD in the successful Search Expedition for Dr. Livingstone.

The newspapers in Scandinavia had discussed the matter fully in the same tone of admiration and commendation. Du Chailu, being an African explorer himself, naturally expresses the greatest interest in the results of the HERALD Expedition and Livingstone's explorations. In the new field he has chosen—the remote parts of Norway and Sweden—he has had his admiration excited by wild and grand scenery, the primitive character of the inhabitants, the magnificent glaciers, and the fresh features of nature and life he has found. He has travelled the whole length of the country, from the most southern part to North Cape, and has crossed it in several directions. He has prepared abundant materials for the information of the public and expects to return to the United States by the middle of October.

THE SUB-TREASURY DEFAUCATION.

The alleged defalcation in the Sub-Treasury, reports as to which have been prevalent in the city during the last forty-eight hours, received a direct denial by the officials of the Department yesterday. A HERALD reporter was told at the Sub-Treasury yesterday that the rumor was originated by the absence of Mr. Johnson, a clerk in the Revenue Stamp Department, who was allowed a vacation of two weeks, which terminated on the 17th of August. There is no reason to suppose that his accounts are otherwise than correct, and that even if there had been any disposition on his part to be a defaulter the opportunity to appropriate government money was not within his reach.

It has been satisfactorily ascertained that Mr. Johnson's extended absence from his official post is of a personal and not of a pecuniary character. The rumor that there is a defalcation of $100,000 in the Sub-Treasury has no foundation whatever.

The Reported Defalcation Discredited at the Treasury Department.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18, 1872.

The story of a reported defalcation at the New York Sub-Treasury is wholly discredited at the Treasury Department. An examination was in contemplation months ago, and only deferred on account of the absence of experienced clerks on the same business at St. Louis, Mobile, New Orleans, &c. The currency balance is reported here correct, and the gold balance cannot be ascertained until it is weighed, which will be several days hence.

THE WEATHER.

WAR DEPARTMENT.

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 19—1 A. M.

Probabilities.

For New England southeasterly to southwesterly winds, increasing cloudiness and probably areas of rain; for the Middle States southerly to westerly winds veering to westerly and northwesterly, cloudy weather and areas of rain, excepting probably over the southern portion, but followed by clearing weather over the western portion during the morning, and over the eastern portion during the afternoon and evening. For the Southern States, east of the Mississippi, generally clear weather; north of the Ohio valley, northerly to westerly winds and clear weather, with increasing pressure.

The Weather in This City Yesterday.

The following record will show the changes in the temperature for the past twenty-four hours in comparison with the corresponding day of last year, as indicated by the thermometer at Hudson's Pharmacy, HERALD Building:—

1871, 1872.

3 A. M. 55 63 3:30 P. M. 73 78

6 A. M. 55 63 6 P. M. 73 78

9 A. M. 61 65 9 P. M. 64 68

12 M. 68 70 12 P. M. 63 67

Average temperature yesterday 65 63

Average temperature for corresponding date last year 65 63

GREELEY "GOS WEST."

Departure of the Sage to Make Agricultural and Industrial Orations.

A TRIUMPHAL PROGRESS.

New Jersey and Pennsylvania Shake Hands Over the White Hat.

SCENES BY THE WAY.

He Gives a Score of Campaign Speeches En Route.

"THE CANDIDATE OF UNIVERSAL ANNIHILATION."

The Philosopher Leaves New York by the Jersey Ferry.

Mr. Horace Greeley slept at the house of a friend (Mr. Bayard, No. 8 West Fourth street) on Tuesday night. Yesterday morning he arose early, and had breakfast at his friend's house. About eight o'clock Colonel Ethan Allen and Mr. Samuel Sinclair called and took the Presidential candidate away in a carriage. They drove to Glenham House, where Mr. Greeley's baggage awaited him, and it was rapidly placed on the carriage, which started down Fifth avenue at a furious rate, to catch the special train, which had been announced to start at a quarter of ten from Jersey City. Reaching at the Cortlandt street depot the carriage was dismissed, and Mr. Greeley took his own baggage, which consisted solely of a large patent leather valise. On the New York side he was met by Mr. Cleveland, Mr. O'Dwyer, his secretary, and Mr. Carpenter, and the party took the half-past nine boat across. On the arrival of the boat at the opposite side Mr. Greeley's friends crowded the space intervening between it and the depot, at the gate of which he was met by a delegation from the Liberal and Democratic State Committees, and also by J. L. Keck, President of the Cincinnati Board of Aldermen, and James W. Fitzgerald, President of the Cincinnati Common Council. Mr. Greeley was warmly greeted by the gentlemen who were very cordial. Mr. Greeley rapidly shaking everybody by the hand, his face wreathed in a thousand beaming smiles. There was no attempt at speech-making, the time was too short. Mr. Greeley simply said, "Good morning," and then he was off.

There was no crowd in the depot. As Mr. Greeley passed on to reach the special train the passengers in the other trains poked their heads out of the windows to see the well-known broad smiling face and the traditional white hat and coat, which, of course, as usual, Mr. Greeley had on. He was in truth a somewhat shabby one, not a palaces car as promised. A phony of the railroad hands gathered round the train and were in the habit of shouting, "There's Horace!" There was no excitement, though some curiosity. Before the train started the HERALD reporter had the opportunity of speaking a moment with Mr. Greeley. He looked pale and much worn. Evidently the toll of the campaign has told upon his constitution, and his rest has been very scanty. He was asked somewhat sedately if he would speak on politics at all during his tour, and he said, "I should not like to do so, but I would confine myself to matters altogether outside of the campaign. He said he expected to enjoy this trip, and looked forward to it with a great deal of interest.

The bell rang, the Pittsburgh train rolled out of the depot, the crowd rolled out of Mr. Greeley's car, and then the special train, containing the President, started on its way. Mr. Greeley, accompanied by Messrs. Keck, Fitzgerald, Sinclair and Cleveland, took his seat in the rear car at about twenty minutes to ten and the train immediately started.

At New Brunswick, where the train arrived at half-past ten o'clock, there was a crowd assembled, small, but enthusiastic. Some entered the car and shook hands with the Philosopher, while the rest remained outside and hurrahed. Mr. Greeley went out on the platform and shook hands with the people. At Rahway, where the train arrived at twenty-five minutes to eleven o'clock, there was another crowd. The Philosopher was introduced by Governor Randolph, who excused him from making a speech.

At New Brunswick, at eleven o'clock, he was again introduced by Governor Randolph as our next President, and in response to calls:—

MR. GREELEY'S REMARKS.

I have started on this journey and I trust you will excuse me. I will have to speak once or twice in the open air and I trust you will excuse me from any extended remarks.

Mr. Greeley then stepped out and walked arm-in-arm with Governor Randolph to the new Brunswick House, where he received the citizens, being doubly introduced by Mr. J. Elmer Stout and the Governor.

At Trenton the Philosopher was greeted by an enthusiastic crowd, and being introduced by Governor Randolph no longer disdained to make his voice heard, but spoke as follows:—

MR. GREELEY'S SPEECH AT TRENTON.

CITIZENS OF NEW JERSEY—In so far as your coming here to-day is concerned, I am very glad to see you. I thank you most heartily. It also indicates an interest in the great liberal movement, of which I am, to some extent, an exponent, and which is destined to sweep the people of this country into a new era of the Whistling of passing engines drowned the voice of the speaker, and he passed—

"I have started on this journey and I trust you will excuse me. I will have to speak once or twice in the open air and I trust you will excuse me from any extended remarks."

Mr. Greeley then stepped out and walked arm-in-arm with Governor Randolph to the new Brunswick House, where he received the citizens, being doubly introduced by Mr. J. Elmer Stout and the Governor.

At Trenton the Philosopher was greeted by an enthusiastic crowd, and being introduced by Governor Randolph no longer disdained to make his voice heard, but spoke as follows:—

MR. GREELEY'S SPEECH AT TRENTON.

CITIZENS OF NEW JERSEY—In so far as your coming here to-day is concerned, I am very glad to see you. I thank you most heartily. It also indicates an interest in the great liberal movement, of which I am, to some extent, an exponent, and which is destined to sweep the people of this country into a new era of the Whistling of passing engines drowned the voice of the speaker, and he passed—

"I have started on this journey and I trust you will excuse me. I will have to speak once or twice in the open air and I trust you will excuse me from any extended remarks."

Mr. Greeley then stepped out and walked arm-in-arm with Governor Randolph to the new Brunswick House, where he received the citizens, being doubly introduced by Mr. J. Elmer Stout and the Governor.

At Trenton the Philosopher was greeted by an enthusiastic crowd, and being introduced by Governor Randolph no longer disdained to make his voice heard, but spoke as follows:—

MR. GREELEY'S SPEECH AT TRENTON.

CITIZENS OF NEW JERSEY—In so far as your coming here to-day is concerned, I am very glad to see you. I thank you most heartily. It also indicates an interest in the great liberal movement, of which I am, to some extent, an exponent, and which is destined to sweep the people of this country into a new era of the Whistling of passing engines drowned the voice of the speaker, and he passed—

"I have started on this journey and I trust you will excuse me. I will have to speak once or twice in the open air and I trust you will excuse me from any extended remarks."

Mr. Greeley then stepped out and walked arm-in-arm with Governor Randolph to the new Brunswick House, where he received the citizens, being doubly introduced by Mr. J. Elmer Stout and the Governor.

At Trenton the Philosopher was greeted by an enthusiastic crowd, and being introduced by Governor Randolph no longer disdained to make his voice heard, but spoke as follows:—

MR. GREELEY'S SPEECH AT TRENTON.

CITIZENS OF NEW JERSEY—In so far as your coming here to-day is concerned, I am very glad to see you. I thank you most heartily. It also indicates an interest in the great liberal movement, of which I am, to some extent, an exponent, and which is destined to sweep the people of this country into a new era of the Whistling of passing engines drowned the voice of the speaker, and he passed—

"I have started on this journey and I trust you will excuse me. I will have to speak once or twice in the open air and I trust you will excuse me from any extended remarks."

Mr. Greeley then stepped out and walked arm-in-arm with Governor Randolph to the new Brunswick House, where he received the citizens, being doubly introduced by Mr. J. Elmer Stout and the Governor.

At Trenton the Philosopher was greeted by an enthusiastic crowd, and being introduced by Governor Randolph no longer disdained to make his voice heard, but spoke as follows:—

MR. GREELEY'S SPEECH AT TRENTON.

CITIZENS OF NEW JERSEY—In so far as your coming here to-day is concerned, I am very glad to see you. I thank you most heartily. It also indicates an interest in the great liberal movement, of which I am, to some extent, an exponent, and which is destined to sweep the people of this country into a new era of the Whistling of passing engines drowned the voice of the speaker, and he passed—

"I have started on this journey and I trust you will excuse me. I will have to speak once or twice in the open air and I trust you will excuse me from any extended remarks."

Mr. Greeley then stepped out and walked arm-in-arm with Governor Randolph to the new Brunswick House, where he received the citizens, being doubly introduced by Mr. J. Elmer Stout and the Governor.

At Trenton the Philosopher was greeted by an enthusiastic crowd, and being introduced by Governor Randolph no longer disdained to make his voice heard, but spoke as follows:—

MR. GREELEY'S SPEECH AT TRENTON.

CITIZENS OF NEW JERSEY—In so far as your coming here to-day is concerned, I am very glad to see you. I thank you most heartily. It also indicates an interest in the great liberal movement, of which I am, to some extent, an exponent, and which is destined to sweep the people of this country into a new era of the Whistling of passing engines drowned the voice of the speaker, and he passed—

"I have started on this journey and I trust you will excuse me. I will have to speak once or twice in the open air and I trust you will excuse me from any extended remarks."

Mr. Greeley then stepped out and walked arm-in-arm with Governor Randolph to the new Brunswick House, where he received the citizens, being doubly introduced by Mr. J. Elmer Stout and the Governor.

At Trenton the Philosopher was greeted by an enthusiastic crowd, and being introduced by Governor Randolph no longer disdained to make his voice heard, but spoke as follows:—

MR. GREELEY'S SPEECH AT TRENTON.

CITIZENS OF NEW JERSEY—In so far as your coming here to-day is concerned, I am very glad to see you. I thank you most heartily. It also indicates an interest in the great liberal movement, of which I am, to some extent, an exponent, and which is destined to sweep the people of this country into a new era of the Whistling of passing engines drowned the voice of the speaker, and he passed—

"I have started on this journey and I trust you will excuse me. I will have to speak once or twice in the open air and I trust you will excuse me from any extended remarks."

Mr. Greeley then stepped out and walked arm-in-arm with Governor Randolph to the new Brunswick House, where he received the citizens, being doubly introduced by Mr. J. Elmer Stout and the Governor.

At Trenton the Philosopher was greeted by an enthusiastic crowd, and being introduced by Governor Randolph no longer disdained to make his voice heard, but spoke as follows:—

MR. GREELEY'S SPEECH AT TRENTON.

CITIZENS OF NEW JERSEY—In so far as your coming here to-day is concerned, I am very glad to see you. I thank you most heartily. It also indicates an interest in the great liberal movement, of which I am, to some extent, an exponent, and which is destined to sweep the people of this country into a new era of the Whistling of passing engines drowned the voice of the speaker, and he passed—

"I have started on this journey and I trust you will excuse me. I will have to speak once or twice in the open air and I trust you will excuse me from any extended remarks."

Mr. Greeley then stepped out and walked arm-in-arm with Governor Randolph to the new Brunswick House, where he received the citizens, being doubly introduced by Mr. J. Elmer Stout and the Governor.

CONCERNED. M. McArthur, William Rudolph, Fred Orman, S. Buser, General H. L. Calkins and other gentlemen deputed by the State Committee to accompany the candidate through the State, joined the company at Downingtown, which was reached about half-past two P. M. The crowd was small and gaped silently in a most aggravating way, while the Philosopher stood forth boldly on the rear platform. Ex-Governor Higler introduced him as follows:—

"I am happy to meet you, citizens of Pennsylvania, and trust that whatever position I may be placed in the future I shall do nothing to disappoint my friends or cause them to be ashamed of me."

At the conclusion a young lady—Miss Kent—presented the Philosopher with a bouquet, which he accepted with thanks.

At COATESVILLE another crowd called out, and he spoke as follows:—

"I am happy to meet you, citizens of Pennsylvania, and trust that whatever position I may be placed in the future I shall do nothing to disappoint my friends or cause them to be ashamed of me."

At the conclusion a young lady—Miss Kent—presented the Philosopher with a bouquet, which he accepted with thanks.

At COATESVILLE another crowd called out, and he spoke as follows:—

"I am happy to meet you, citizens of Pennsylvania, and trust that whatever position I may be placed in the future I shall do nothing to disappoint my friends or cause them to be ashamed of me."

At the conclusion a young lady—Miss Kent—presented the Philosopher with a bouquet, which he accepted with thanks.

At COATESVILLE another crowd called out, and he spoke as follows:—

"I am happy to meet you, citizens of Pennsylvania, and trust that whatever position I may be placed in the future I shall do nothing to disappoint my friends or cause them to be ashamed of me."

At the conclusion a young lady—Miss Kent—presented the Philosopher with a bouquet, which he accepted with thanks.

At COATESVILLE another crowd called out, and he spoke as follows:—

"I am happy to meet you, citizens of Pennsylvania, and trust that whatever position I may be placed in the future I shall do nothing to disappoint my friends or cause them to be ashamed of me."

At the conclusion a young lady—Miss Kent—presented the Philosopher with a bouquet, which he accepted with thanks.

At COATESVILLE another crowd called out, and he spoke as follows:—

"I am happy to meet you, citizens of Pennsylvania, and trust that whatever position I may be placed in the future I shall do nothing to disappoint my friends or cause them to be ashamed of me."

At the conclusion a young lady—Miss Kent—presented the Philosopher with a bouquet, which he accepted with thanks.

At COATESVILLE another crowd called out, and he spoke as follows:—

"I am happy to meet you, citizens of Pennsylvania, and trust that whatever position I may be placed in the future I shall do nothing to disappoint my friends or cause them to be ashamed of me."

At the conclusion a young lady—Miss Kent—presented the Philosopher with a bouquet, which he accepted with thanks.

At COATESVILLE another crowd called out, and he spoke as follows:—

"I am happy to meet you, citizens of Pennsylvania, and trust that whatever position I may be placed in the future I shall do nothing to disappoint my friends or cause them to be ashamed of me."

At the conclusion a young lady—Miss Kent—presented the Philosopher with a bouquet, which he accepted with thanks.

At COATESVILLE another crowd called out, and he spoke as follows:—

"I am happy to meet you, citizens of Pennsylvania, and trust that whatever position I may be placed in the future I shall do nothing to disappoint my friends or cause them to be ashamed of me."

At the conclusion a young lady—Miss Kent—presented the Philosopher with a bouquet, which he accepted with thanks.

At COATESVILLE another crowd called out, and he spoke as follows:—

"I am happy to meet you, citizens of Pennsylvania, and trust that whatever position I may be placed in the future I shall do nothing to disappoint my friends or cause them to be ashamed of me."

At the conclusion a young lady—Miss Kent—presented the Philosopher with a bouquet, which he accepted with thanks.

At COATESVILLE another crowd called out, and he spoke as follows:—

"I am happy to meet you, citizens of Pennsylvania, and trust that whatever position I may be placed in the future I shall do nothing to disappoint my friends or cause them to be ashamed of me."

At the conclusion a young lady—Miss Kent—presented the Philosopher with a bouquet, which he accepted with thanks.

At COATESVILLE another crowd called out, and he spoke as follows:—

"I am happy to meet you, citizens of Pennsylvania, and trust that whatever position I may be placed in